

"A CLEAR-EYED LOOK AT TRANSFORMATIVE CHANGE IN SCHOOL FOOD."

— Prof. Jan Poppendieck, Author,
Free For All: Fixing School Food in America

CAFETERIA MAN

FIGHTING
FOR HEALTHIER
SCHOOL FOOD

A DOCUMENTARY FILM
FEATURING VISIONARY CHEF
TONY GERACI

SCHOOL FOOD MATTERS
HELP MAKE A DIFFERENCE

CAFETERIA MAN

How can we reform school food programs so that they serve more nutritious and tasty meals for our kids, and are also more sustainable for our communities? Cafeteria Man is an inspiring portrayal of the possibilities, as well as the importance of local leadership from parents, students and administrators to help make change.

Cafeteria Man follows chef Tony Geraci's ambitious efforts in Baltimore City's Public Schools, a large district that serves 83,000 students. Responding to student complaints, Geraci launched a sweeping, multi-faceted plan to transform not just what students eat, but their whole relationship to food. His vision included student-designed meals, locally sourced foods, nutrition education in the classroom, and school vegetable gardens.

JOIN US FOR A SCREENING OF CAFETERIA MAN