WHAT YOU CAN DO TO HELP

Cafeteria Man profiles how Tony Geraci, students and parents helped transform Baltimore's school food program to serve more healthy, locally sourced foods to its 83,000 kids – and setup school gardens and a teaching farm.

Use the film to promote Farm to School's vision of connecting local farmers with school cafeterias. The award-winning film shows what is possible, and what it takes, to create healthier school food programs.

ORGANIZE A COMMUNITY SCREENING

Invite parents, students, teachers, administrators, local farmers and others to help move forward Farm to School in your community. Free Action Guides, publicity materials, and other resources on the film's website to help you organize and promote your screening.
